...anybody interested?

An airline is expected to constantly improve its services and facilities in answer to the growing needs of its passengers. That's how it should be. And that's why Pacific—already serving more Pacific Coast cities than any other airline—is expanding its facilities to provide a still better service.

Pacific passengers expect this sort of thing.

Our President, however, did want everyone to know about Pacific's move into its new, ultra-modern Administration and Maintenance Base in San Francisco. We, of course, are as proud as he is.

But probably of greater personal interest to you (passengers rarely visit an airline base), is news that Pacific will soon be further expanding its Boeing jet fleet. And in addition:

Effective immediately we're increasing 727 Jet Service to Monterey and Santa Barbara to 3 flights daily!

For reservations and information, see Pacific or your Travel Agent. (And if you see our President please tell him you read about his new building.)
