Battle Creek

World capital for breakfast cereals

If you've ever mailed breakfast food box tops for your youngster, chances are you've mailed them to Battle Creek. That's because more dry cereals are made in this city than any other place in the world.

However, the city that's located midway between Chicago and Detroit has not put all its commercial eggs in one basket. It is a thriving, diversified community that does more than one-hundred million dollars worth of retail business every year.

Battle Creek is a city well-known for the transport equipment produced there — trolleys and busses. It is also well up in the ranks of machinery makers and metal fabricators.

Even the most casual newcomer to Battle Creek cannot help but notice the city's vigorous nature. People here know how to work and how to play. Closer inspection will show you that the city has really excellent educational and recreational facilities for both young and old.

If you want to visit a truly representative, mid-sized American city . . . a city that's aggressive, proud and confident of its future — visit Battle Creek. It's an experience you'll want to repeat.
