HELP YOURSELF TO BETTER AIRLINE SERVICE

- 1 Make your reservations as far in advance as possible. Airline space is at a premium today. Reservations involving several carriers are complex and require time for completion.
- 2 Be at the airport at least 20 minutes before flight departure time. The flight will be "closed out" 10 minutes before scheduled departure time and your space may be claimed by a "stand-by" passenger.
- 3 Re-confirm return space on round trip reservations at least 6 hours before departure time. Failure to re-confirm within the 6 hour limit will result in cancellation of your space and reassignment to a passenger on the waiting list.

- 4 Always give airline personnel at the station you expect to board a valid contact so that you can be reached in event of a delayed flight or cancellation. This is doubly important at stations where you board for your return trip.
- 5 Don't be a "no show." Cancel your reservation promptly if your plans change or it is evident you will be too late for the flight. Thousands of persons daily forget to cancel space and the airlines find it out only at flight time when the passenger fails to appear. This usually results in a disappointed person who needed the space and could have used it.

Observance of these five simple rules will save you and your fellow travelers inconvenience and discomfort.
